Call for Participation | University Budget Simulation Study

Participate in Study  Posted on 01/9/2026

Fiscal stress and uncertainty is causing Universities to have to make hard decisions about how to raise revenue and make cuts to expenditures. As a faculty member, your perspective about how to make cuts and tradeoffs is especially valuable.

This simulation experiment study uses a hypothetical University based on a University that you might recognize. Please balance the budget for us to gain valuable information on how faculty members would like the University to balance the budget.

Deadline:
March 1, 2026

Call for Papers | Special Issue on Accounting for What Matters

Call for Papers  Posted on 10/3/2025

Public sector organizations are navigating economic instability, climate crises, inequities, and political pressures—often forced to balance financial sustainability with the equally vital goals of social sustainability and equity. This special issue invites research that rethinks public sector accounting and accountability not only as tools for fiscal management but also as frameworks that foster inclusion, fairness, resilience, and long-term public value.

We welcome conceptual, empirical, and comparative studies addressing how accounting can better embed social sustainability, manage value trade-offs, strengthen organizational resilience, and challenge existing power dynamics. Case studies, longitudinal analyses, and critical perspectives across diverse contexts (healthcare, education, social services, etc.) are encouraged.

Deadline:
June 30, 2026

Call for Papers | JBPA on Null Results

The Journal of Behavioral Public Administration (JBPA) seeks papers for a special issue on null results. Null results are important for scientific progress and for policy making. But null results require nuanced consideration to be informative—null results caused by a small sample size or measurement error may hide true (non-zero and substantively meaningful) effects. JBPA welcomes null results Public Administration papers, especially those utilizing pre-hoc power analysis, pre-registration, experimental manipulation checks, Bayesian t-tests/Bayes factors, TOST procedures or simulated confidence intervals to rule out large effect, and other nuanced and convincing methods. Full research papers will be evaluated on an ongoing basis.

Deadline:

July 31, 2026

Call to Share | Supporting the Academic Community

Call to Share  Posted on 01/9/2026

The National Academy of Public Administration (NAPA) is inviting partners across the field to help amplify an important message supporting academic institutions and the broader scholarly community. As NAPA President and CEO James-Christian B. Blockwood notes, “This is an especially important time” to strengthen programming, convenings, and support for academicians nationwide.

We encourage PMRA members, institutions, and partners to view the Academy's message and share it across your networks, newsletters, and social channels. Thank you for helping elevate this work across the public administration community.
